

Questions

Activity

Have one person pick an object in the room then have everyone else guess what object has been chosen.

They should try to guess what object has been chosen by asking “yes” or “no” questions about the object’s location, size, etc.

Take turns choosing objects and finding them.

Why is it important to get clues or answers to questions? What are some ways, other than games, to get clues or answers about things?